

School:

There will be seven classrooms, an art and photography room and a computer room, capable of holding 28 children each. Also an important adjunct to this will be the fields, chicken house and rabbitry, for agricultural learning and the botanical learning garden for study of the natural environment.

